

Hello Excel Families,

We are so excited to welcome you and your students back to school in just a few short weeks. In the meantime, we are very happy to share information about our upcoming family orientation night(s) happening this week.

Family orientation is a time where students and their families come in to receive information needed to get the school year started. This has always been a staple for us at Excel and this year we are even more excited to welcome our families back into our community as we come back from the pandemic. Families are encouraged to attend only one night of family orientation. Please see key information below!
